

Cooperation

SerwerSMS platform is already integrated with many systems however, we are ready to cooperate with companies and specialists. We constantly work on new ways of automated communication and improving business processes.

If you are:

- a programmer or a program publisher
- you share or plan to share SMS communication in your software
- you work on development of Open Source software and write integrative modules for different systems
- you want to post on our website information about software integrated with our platform

We can offer you cooperation

In order to develop integration sector with us and present your product in section modules and SMS plugings please contact us. We offer some ways of possible cooperation which can be adjusted to the demands of software publisher. Together with our partners we implement efficient and profitable business models.